

Shan You Counselling Centre is a not-for-profit organization set up in Singapore to provide counselling and family support services for those in need regardless of race and religion. The Centre was registered as a charity on 28 Dec 1995 and conferred the Institutions of a Public Character (IPCs) status. It has a full membership with the National Council of Social Service.

Clinical Director

Responsibilities

- Plan, implement and administer the Centre's clinical service programmes which ensure professional care for our service users.
- Conceptualise and formulate clinical service strategies.
- Assume the responsibilities of a clinical supervisor.
- Formulate, manage and conduct public and professional education programmes.

Requirements

- A postgraduate degree in psychology from an accredited University
- A registered psychologist with the Singapore Psychological Society
- Five years work experience in behavioural health services with two years of supervisory clinical experience

We offer a competitive package that commensurate with experience and qualifications, learning opportunities to meets personal goals and career aspiration. Interested applicants please email your detailed resume by 20 September 2008 to

Executive Director
Email: kmtong@shanyou.org.sg